Michigan, owned by Mr. J. W. Medern, of this city, and Mr. J. F. Aldright, of Chicago, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night last. The mill was valued at $6,000, and incured for $2,500. The fire was caused by carelesaness on the part of the miller. On leaving the mill in the cycning he "choked down" the stone, but did not shut off the water. As a necessary consequence, some time during the night the water started the machinery, and the friction set fire to the mill.

IMPOBLANT TO MILITARY MES .- On Friday IMPORIANT 10 MILITARY MES.—On Friday, before going to parade, a Capacia of one of the companies of the First Regiment, very judiciously and considerately made an inspection of the cartridges furnished his command prior to leaving the armoty, and found one ball cartridge. Had this daugerous article been ovarlooked, the street firing at that time must have resulted in a taggedy. With proper regard to the publicance,—the above fact having come to the knowledge of Oal. Burbank—a general examination of the cartridges took place before the filing commenced. A short time ago a child was hilled in the arms of its mother, and the mother dangerously wounded, in New York, from an accidental ball cartridge having been mixed among the blanka, and a recollection of this fact indused the discovery noted above. The Bred Scott Decision.

The News of yesterday, in its anxiety to lift it. self and its party out of the "Dred Scott" quagdecision. The News declares that the only two questions passed upon by the Supreme Court

1st, Was Dred Scott free? 2nd, Was he entitled to suf in the Circuit Court of the United Now hear the Weshington Union, the acknowledged organ of the National Democratic Party, and of the Federal Administration, on this point:

The Washington Union on the Dard Scott Decision.—The Chicago Times is engaged in an industrial washing to limit and reduce the slope of the Dred Scott Decision, in order to reconcile with it the declarations of Judge Douglas at Freeport, in which the Judge asserts for the authorities of the Territories, while yet they are Territories, power to exclude slavery from their limits. The Judge himself endeavored to mosify the effect of his declarations by claiming for the territorial legislature power to introduce as well as to exclude slavery; but either branch of this assertion is heretical and tinsound. The purport of the Dred Scott decision in, that slavery is legalized in the Territories without express law, proprious or of the constitution; and, therefore, prious decision in transaction is and, therefore, galized in the Territories tentous express examples prio vigore of the constitution; and, therefore, the introduction by express law is unnecessary, as its exclusion by express law would be unconstitutional. When therefore, Judge Douglas asserts that Slavery may be introduced or excluded by territorial legislation be makes a declaration doubly inconsistent with the Dred Scott decision.

We hope that every elector of Wisconsin will carefully note this efficial interpretation of the their votes the Supreme Court decree, that SLAbe prohibited therein, or expelled therefrom by either Congressional or Territorial Legislation

In 1848 the editor of the News belonged to the tribs of "Kinderbook philosophers and Buffulo fanatice," as the Washington Union styles them. The National Horse Show.

MB. EDITOR: - I left New York this morning at 8 o'clock by the Boston Express for Spring - st sippi R. R. Co., to a suit brought to compet field, and arrived here at 1 o'clock P. M. The cars were overrun with people going to the fair. The third National Exhibition of Horses commenced here on Tuesday and closes to-morrow. After taking a hasty dinner at the Maseasoit House, I started for the fair grounds .-The grounds are a half a mile from the Massasoit House, and are the finest I ever have teen for the purpose they are used. It is a sandy belief as to any of the matters stated and charsoil, and there is no danger of injuring horses by diving. There is a half mile and a mile course.

The berses were exhibited upon the half mile course. Opposite the Judges' stand there was a stand for apecintars that would accommodate 5000 persons. That was filled with ladies.—
There is also good stabling for 250 horses upon the ground. The ground is enclosed with a tight board ience 10 feet high. Both tracks are as fine as cay be. Yesterday was to have been

There were some good young geldings, but they did not style much. Among the fillies, were lady Sontsg, the fast trotting mare, and Pocahontie, the fastest pacing animil in the world. They were divided in different classes, and in judging, their action and speed were considered. The judges would call up one class and start them. They would go once around the half mile track, and then the judges would match them and would put them two to mire, again undertakes "to limit and reduce the four in a race, these that they thought more scope," as the Washington Union says, of that equally matched; and by that means we had some very exciting races. Among the stallions for one race named, were Hiram Drew, Jupiter and Ethan Ailen: but the owners of Jupiter claimed their horse was sick, and would not stand him. The race was twice sround the half mile course. Etnan Allea and Hiram Drew started, and it was a beautiful race. They were side by side the whole distance, both drivers driving the best whole distance, both drivers driving the best tipe they could; Hirum Drew winning by a neck in 2:14. After the sta lions had gone, the geidings and filles were called up .-There were quite a number of very exciting racee. I forgot to mention the Trotting Childers. He trotted a mile in 2.47. He is far superior in style to any horse on the ground. The gentleman's driving horses in single harness did not assessed to much; they did not have much speed, nor sny style. The next thirg brought out was a dancing mare; she was a perfect beauty, and danced the popular dances of the day. Then came the Tamden teams, and four ic hand. The former did not amount to much; but the information and belief, that the said bonds and the former did not surged to the former d four in hand were very good. THE GREEN MOSS. A delicate thing is the great, green moss,
That clings to the crumbling wall;
Its nontiers the damp from the cold, cold earth,
The air we its sire may call;
Por R is fed by the breeze with the tiny dust
And definite of the eye's soft tears,
And definite of the eye's soft tears,
And dishift spread forth its one-raid crust
O'er the stone is had non-sed for years;
And living on the rith man's less,
A tale is told of the green, green moss.

It ories so the second green mass.

It ories as "r intermol of the hold and brave,
That crimble to deal alone.
And proceed a second over the proor man's grave
Which are of enarghend will own;
It setsuit the slight of will own;
And town will this pride decay.
And town will this pride has been,
And the monitering lowers of ancient days
It loveth to mande and green,
Glorifying in the rich man's loss,
A tale is sold by the green, green mass.

A carget is spread o'er the marshy bad Where the forests habedded resh. And middy it raise the the delecte head From the moldering pricely creat. And the fair green moss on the old charch spire Tells how bright a Rie may be. When age ring: the curfest to quench youth's fire If the heart from guill'de free. Rising on the ruised loss, liow true a table tells the green, green moss?

From Marser's Yagland during the raign of Gen. HE

From Massey's England during the reign of Gen. III. How they tombled in the days of our Grandtathers. The vice which, above all others, infested English society during the greater part of the elighteeath century, was gaming. Men and women, the old and the young, besur and sistemen, peers and apprentices, the learned and polite, as well as the ignorant and vulgar, were slike involved in the vortex of play. Horse racing, cock fighting, betting of every description, with the ordinary resources of cards and dice, were the chief employment of many, and were tempored with more or less by almost every person in the higher ranks of life. The dice, were the chief employment of many, and were tumpered with more or less by almost every person in the higher raths of life. The proprietary clubs—Which's, Brook's, Boodle's—were originally ionisticated to evade the statute against public gaming house. Every fashionable assembly was a gaming house. Large balls and route had not yet come into vogue. A ball colom comisted of more than ten or twelve couples, and the practice of cohecting a crowd of fine people to do nothing, is an invention of recart date.

When a lady received company, card-tables were provided for all the guests; and even where there was dancing, cards formed the principal part of the entertainment. Games of shift were celdom played. Brag, crimp, basset, carberal hazard, commerce, spaddille—the very names of which are hardly known to the present generation—furnished the excitement of play, and onabled people of fashion to win and lose their money without mental effort. Whist was not much in vogue until a later period, and was far too abstruce and slow to swit the deproved tasts which required unadulterated stimulants. The ordinary stakes at these mixed assemblies would, at the present day be considered high, even at clubs where a rubber is still ellowed.—The consequences of such gaming were often still more lamentable than these which required at the series of the gaming were often still more lamentable than these which required at the part of the still be to a still more lamentable than these which required at the part of the still be well at the present day be considered high, and the present day be considered high, and the present day be considered high, and the present day be considered high, the consequences of such gaming were often still more lamentable than these which required mentable than t former of Milwankee and Michigan Sirects, still more lamentable than these which naually attend such practices. It would happen that a lady lost more than she would venture to confess to a husband or father. Her creditor was probably a fine gentleman,

Her creditor was probably a fine gentlemen, or she became indebted to some rich admirer for the means of discharging her liabilities. In either event the result may be guossed. In the one case, the debt of honor was liquidated on the old principle of the law merchant, according to which there was but one altercative to payment in purse. In the other, there was likewise but one meds in which the acknowledgement of obligation by a fine women, would be acceptable to a man of the world.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15
The genial clannishness of our German citizens was lest week finely illustrated in a monster turnout and parade through the city, followed by a two days' featival in the suburbs, with muby a two days restrived in the samples, with ma-sic, banners, feasting and gyannastics. It was the greatest German jubiles ever witnessed here, and was held in honor of Baron Steuben, for the pur-pose of raising funds towards a monument to his memory. At least 10,000 men waiked in pro-cession, a fine, robust and highly respectable body, well dressed and well behaved. Probebly, 100,000 Converse, assistanced in the inhibit body, well dressed and well behaved. Probably 200,000 Germans participated in the jubilee. The ground was crowded with German women, old and young, with swarms of children. These great gatherings of adopted citizens are not so common here as in New York, but the example shall have an abundance of them. The German population of this city numbers 80,000, of whom 9,000 are voters. They are in many respects a worthy class, sober, industrious and prone to grow riob by saving what they earn. Many of them are admirable mechanics.

Their deposits in the various saving banks amount to an immense sum. They are banded together in numerous instances in the purchase of large tracts of lands in our vicinits, which of large tracts of lands in our vicinity, which they enter upon in a body, clear up and bring into cultivation. On a recent occasion a company of them bought some 75,000 acres of the scrub oak land which lines the Camdon and Atlantic Radiroad, some thirty miles from this city in New Jersey, paying $5 per acro. They very soon sold 1,500 farms of 20 acres each, the purchaser of each farm receiving a fine lot in the town adjoining, and paying $300 for farm and lot. This enterprise is not three years old, and yet the town contains 200 substantial brick houses; farms all around it have been grubbed, cleared, lenced in and brought into cultivation; brick yards established, steam—mills built, schools and churches erected, and all other appliances of a complete community concentrated upon ground which, before the railroad was made, could find no purchaser at a dollar an acre. The old find no purchaser at a dollar an acre. The boldings have more than doubled in value.

THE UNITED STATES FRIGATE WARREN AN THE USITED STATES FRIGATE WABASH AT MARKHLESS.—At last her Majesty's ship Curacoa arrived here last evening. She left Spithead on 14th August, and consequently she had a very long passage. She is at anchor very near the American steam frigate Wabash, of forty guns, which arrived here on Saurday last, on her way to Constantinoble. The Wabash is a very fine craft, one of the heavisst of the American craft, one of the heavist of the American frigates, with a crew of 600 men, among whom may be discovered some very smart British tars. Their loyalty is no proof against, as they say, "better grog and better pay" on board the Yan-kee than on board British men-of-war. If I am not misinformed, the Wabash goes to Constanti nople purposely to be exhibited to the Sultan a a model atcamer, as his Majesty proposes to favor America with an order for building him favor America with an order for building him a few ships of war, and is desirous to judge personally of this matter, rather than to trust to the report of the commissioner whom he had recently despatched for the purpose to the United States. Besides, I am told the Wabash is commissioned to settle some little account with the Turkish government, but altogether of an "amicable nature."—Marscilles, (Sept. 1,) correspondence of the London Post

Dr. Lane, a candidate for the Legislatro, from Polk county, in the recent Arkansae election, was arrested while canvassing his district in company with the opposition candidate, and indeed immediately after finishing a speech, by an officer from North Carolina, on the charge of having committed a murder in that State many years since, from which time until recent-ly, his whereabouts had been unknown. Lane is said to be a man of learning and talents.

MILWAUKEE DAILY MARKET.

The wheat market has been very firm to-day, though not so active as yeaterday, sellers in most instances demanding considerable of an advance on yesterday's quotations, and the New York market having come to a standing point, buyers are not disposed to bid much fligher than yeaterday's rates. Holders, however, are persistent in asking higher figures, and in some instances an advance of lafe was obtained on shipping spring. The range for No. 1 spring wheat to-day is 91a94c, and extra 50a31, with light sales. Flour is unchanged. Outs are quite, and vange from 35a6c, choice old oats would bring 44a16c. Barley, rye and corn are without change, the latter very inactive. Receipts of wheat by railroad are still increasing, being upwards of forty-three thousand bushels for ar. hishels to day, being about eight thousand bushels in an case of the recoipts at Chicago, as reported in the Provide Tribune, of to-day.
